

Ladder Safety – Perched on Edge

This worker is on a stepladder that has front legs on open window sill above ground level working overhead without fall protection.

Discuss the need for the use of Fall Protection in this situation.

Consider the placement of the ladder legs and discuss a safer way to conduct this task.

Is the increased risk of falling outside and down to the ground worth the amount of time saved in conducting the task?