

Scaffold Safety - Dismounting

“Path of Least Resistance” usually is not the best path – and that applies to scaffolds as well.

How should you properly dismount from a work scaffold?

The consequences of not doing so could result in what? If work rules specifically prohibit this could you be denied compensation for any injuries received?

So, explain why you would continue to do this?